When do chickens start laying eggs?

Categories: Farming

The hen breeds used in commercial egg farming start laying eggs at around 16-18 weeks (four months) old. The first eggs laid by hens at this young age are relatively small at about 45-50 grams.

When do chickens start laying eggs?