

Molecular epidemiology of Newcastle disease virus in Australia

Organisation: CSIRO, Livestock Industries

Publication: 1 December 2004

Researchers: A.R. Gould

Categories: Biosecurity & Flock Health

Tags: avirulent, characterisation, Dean Park, epidemiology, genome sequence, Mangrove Mountain, molecular, Newcastle disease virus, outbreaks, Peats ridge, virulent, mutation

This project was undertaken in order to achieve the following goals; to develop a better understanding of the epidemiology of Newcastle disease virus, to determine the cause of virulent outbreaks of the virus, to develop a rapid molecular diagnostic procedures and to develop a better understanding of the mutation rates...

This project was undertaken in order to achieve the following goals; to develop a better understanding of the epidemiology of Newcastle disease virus, to determine the cause of virulent outbreaks of the virus, to develop a rapid molecular diagnostic procedures and to develop a better understanding of the mutation rates of the virus.