

Three vaccine trials on Marek's disease

Organisation: Royal Melbourne Institute of Technology

Publication: 1 June 1999

Researchers: D.B. De Laney, G.A. Tannock, R.J. Condrón and G. Underwood

Categories: Biosecurity & Flock Health

Tags: Marek's disease, serotype, trials, immunosuppression, dose, efficacy, immune organ, protective, RMIT, strain

The findings from three trials conducted to assess the efficacy of the newly developed RMIT vaccine against Marek's disease are detailed in the report on this project.